Harry Hole - Jo Nesbo

Harry Hole is the main character in a series of crime novels written by Norwegian author Jo Nesbø. Hole is a brilliant and obsessively driven detective who uses unorthodox and sometimes illegal methods in his investigations. A recovering alcoholic prone to depression, the stress Hole's mental health suffers is often a focus of the stories. He has few friends and often clashes with colleagues. While later recognizing his problematic behavior and leaving the police force, he continues to find ...

Dead Good

I know I am a sucker for a Harry Hole book but this one has to be the best yet. I simply could not put it down. Nesbo spends most of the book playing mind tricks on the reader and even in the last chapter he gives things a little twist that has you sitting on the edge of your seat.

Jo Nesbo built his reputation on the Harry Hole novels (although his stand alone books - apart from Macbeth were good). It seems he is tired of HH and instead of writing a decent story he is just fulfilling his obligation to his publisher. Do not bother reading this latest offering - total garbage especially the ending.

I can read and enjoy a couple of the Harry Hole books each year. The books are about an angst ridden man with a drink problem who upsets his superiors - just like most other detective stories - but Jo Nesbo is a talented writer. There is too much violence for me, and Harry's habitual problems become boring after a while.
